King Matthias and the Shepherd Who Never Lied

Once upon a time, the Burkus king visited the court of King Matthias. They were good friends.
"I've heard you have a lamb with gold fur," said the Burkus king.
"True. I have such a lamb and1," replied the Hungarian king.
"I'll show you that he will lie (hazudik)," the Burkus king promised.
"2," said King Matthias.
"Then let's make a bet (fogadás)," the other king said. "I'll cheat (rászed) him and in case he is lying,
you will give me your half kingdom."
"But if he tells the truth,3," said King Matthias
They agreed. The Burkus king left to find the shepherd. But first, he dressed as a peasant (paraszt).
"Greetings, lord king," said the shepherd.
"4?" asked the king, surprised.
"It's in the way you speak," answered the shepherd.
"I'll give you a large amount of gold if you give me the lamb with the gold fur," said the king.
"I'm not interested in money, my king, and I can't give you the lamb because King Matthias will kill me," the shepherd replied.
The Burkus king tried again and again,5
The Burkus king had a daughter. She asked her father to let her try it as well. The girl took a bottle of good wine and went to the shepherd.
She wanted him to give up the lamb, but she failed. During their conversation6 The shepherd promised to give the lamb to the girl if she married him. The princess said yes. She ordered the shepherd to skin the lamb and she took the golden fur to her father.
7 He didn't know how to tell about this to King Matthias. He came up with many lies in his mind. Finally, he arrived at the throne room.

"8?" asked K	ing Matthias.
"Nothing special, exc	cept that I have sold the	lamb with the golden fur for a black lamb," the shepherd replied.
King Matthias was ve	ery happy. "Then show	me please that black sheep," he said.
"9," the sheph	nerd replied, pointing to	the girl.
"Very well done! Ye	ou told the truth," King	g Matthias said. "As a reward, I'll give you the Burkus king's half kingdom	that I have won."
"10," promise	ed the Burkus king.
